Undergraduate Courses

Summer 2018

First Session (May 21 - June 22)

PSCI 445 – Political Psychology
M-Th, 11:30-1:20, Professor Christopher Muste
Psychological theories of political attitudes, opinion formation, conformity, prejudice, genocide, & leadership.
PSCI majors can count this course towards either their upper-division American Politics or Comparative Politics requirement. Graduate students welcome.

PSCI 400 – Advanced Writing in Political Science
1-credit course for students taking PSCI 445. Required of all PSCI majors

Second Session (June 25 - July 27)

PSCI 210SY – Introduction to American Government
M-Th, 11:30-1:20, Professor Jeffrey Greene
Constitutional principles, structures, and the political processes of the national government.
Required of all PSCI majors. Satisfies GenEd “S” and “Y” requirements.

Late Session (July 30 - August 17)

PSCI 320 – Exp. Offering: Politics of the Middle East
Online, Professor Eva-Maria Maggi
Historical and contemporary political institutions, trends, and challenges within and among the countries of the Middle East and the role of the Middle East in international relations. PSCI majors can count this course towards either their upper-division Comparative Politics or International Relations requirement. Graduate students: take concurrent section of PSCI 520.

PSCI 400 – Advanced Writing in Political Science
1-credit course for students taking PSCI 320. Required of all PSCI majors