Habitat III  United Nations Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urban Development Committee Overview

“We must provide ideas for the redesign of policies to strengthen the impact on poverty and in employment, and on the promotion of structural change for a more sustainable future for all.”

Introduction

The General Assembly Second Committee is one of the six Main Committees of the United Nations (UN) General Assembly. Established as one of six principal organs during the foundation of the UN, the General Assembly remains a vital element of the organization. This Committee Overview will briefly outline the history of the Second Committee, and provide a synopsis of its structure, governance, mandate, functions, and its work in recent and future sessions.

Following the Second World War, the UN was formed to prevent the outbreak of future wars by fostering peace and security among states and resolving pressing global issues including securing fundamental human rights. Each of the General Assembly’s Main Committees and the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) were tasked with focusing on specific issues to fulfill the UN’s objectives, as outlined under Articles 55 to 60 of the Charter of the United Nations (1945). While differing in their areas of focus, the Main Committees share similar arrangements in structure, governance, membership, functions, and powers.

With a focus on economic and financial issues of both the international system and Member States, the Second Committee specifically addresses the promotion of development and economic growth, the reduction of global poverty levels, and the improvement of social conditions and living standards. The Committee is instrumental in addressing the root causes of global economic instability and works with key actors, such as ECOSOC, the International Monetary Fund (IMF), and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development (IBRD) of the World Bank Group to reduce structural problems in developing states and restore economic stability.

With the rise of economic crises and financial issues across the international system in the past, the Second Committee has delegated some of its work to other key international organizations, such as the World Trade Organization (WTO). With these devolved powers, the Committee has restructured its work by aligning its agenda with the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) first, and with the new targets set by the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), to ensure progress is made in achieving the goals and strengthening stability in the international system. The Second Committee focuses on the causes and effects of crucial events, as well as their triggering factors, to prevent similar occurrences and to promote economic growth and development. This ensures that the Committee fulfills its role in maintaining economic stability, while offering a unique platform for Member States to generate new, innovative ideas while resolving existing issues.\textsuperscript{12}

Governance, Structure, and Membership

Although its area of focus is different from other Main Committees, the Second Committee follows a similar structure with a plenary composition of 193 Member States, as well as a number of Observer States and non-governmental organizations (NGOs).\textsuperscript{13} With the exception of Observer States and NGOs, each Member State in the General Assembly has one vote.\textsuperscript{14} In recent years, the General Assembly has sought to move toward a model of achieving resolution by consensus rather than a formal vote to emphasize the importance of collaboration and cooperation among Member States.\textsuperscript{15}

The General Assembly meets annually, beginning with the General Debate in the third week of September.\textsuperscript{16} The agenda lays out the main areas for discussion by the Main Committees.\textsuperscript{17} The allocation of items on the agenda to each of the Main Committees, including the Second Committee, is the responsibility of the General Committee.\textsuperscript{18} The General Committee is formed by the President of the General Assembly and 22 Vice-Presidents from different regional blocs.\textsuperscript{19} From January to September, the General Committee focuses on thematic debates, consultations, and meetings through organized working groups.\textsuperscript{20} During these Committee sessions, Member States can discuss and address solutions to specific topics.\textsuperscript{21}

As a part of the UN reporting structure, there are five primary types of organizations that report to the General Assembly and its six Main Committees: subsidiary bodies, funds and programs, research and training institutes, related organizations, and other entities.\textsuperscript{22} The General Assembly receives and considers reports on ongoing topics and may take action on any of the items reported by these bodies, including ordering further study and investigation, creating a working group, or including it in documentation or resolutions drafted by the committee.\textsuperscript{23} At the end of each year, the Second Committee submits a report to the General Assembly Plenary on each agenda item allocated to it, and the Plenary then considers each report and votes on the adoption of the included draft resolutions.\textsuperscript{24} The General Assembly also considers reports from ECOSOC.\textsuperscript{25} Importantly, while the General Assembly is the main deliberative and policy organ of the UN, its decisions are not legally binding upon Member States.\textsuperscript{26}

The UN Department of Economic and Social Affairs (UN DESA) is an arm of the UN Secretariat that focuses on development.\textsuperscript{27} Working closely with the Second Committee, it supports initiatives and resolutions related to the organization’s future development goals.\textsuperscript{28} Along with this, the Office for ECOSOC Support and Coordination provides the main operational and policy support for ECOSOC and the Second Committee on development issues.\textsuperscript{29} It also prepares and advises the General Assembly on the periodic review of funding operational development activities.\footnote{Ibid.} The Fifth Committee specifically works with the General Assembly and its Main Committees on budgetary allocations, especially where resolutions that require expenditures are passed.\footnote{UN General Assembly, \textit{Administrative & Budgetary (Fifth Committee). About the Fifth Committee.}}

Mandate, Functions, and Powers

Articles 55 to 60 of the \textit{Charter of the United Nations} outline the Committee’s mandate, which includes addressing macroeconomic policy issues, such as international trade, external debt sustainability, and financing for development.\footnote{Ibid.} In line with this, the Second Committee plays a key role in the \textit{2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development}, by addressing sustainable development, globalization and interdependence, and poverty eradication.\footnote{UN General Assembly, \textit{Economic and Financial}. 2017.} Additionally, the Committee provides direction on special situations including least developed countries (LDCs), landlocked developing countries (LLDCs), and on the “permanent sovereignty of the Palestinian people in the Occupied Palestinian Territory, including East Jerusalem, and of the Arab population in the occupied Syrian Golan over their natural resources.”\footnote{Ibid.}

As a normative body, the Second Committee works to develop norms and standards for the UN and helps implement these standards within Member States by supporting national legislation and policy.\footnote{UN General Assembly, \textit{UN Third International Conference on Financing for Development, New Zealand}. 2014.} The work of the Committee is chiefly substantive, with the exception of its mission on the revitalization of the General Assembly, where it aims to streamline the overall program of work including the possibility of biennial and thematic groups of agenda items, updating working methods, and reducing the number and length of draft resolutions.\footnote{UN General Assembly, Organization of work of the Second Committee: Note by the Secretariat (A/C.2/71/L.1). 2016.}

The Second Committee completes its work primarily through draft proposals and submissions of reports to the General Assembly as outlined in the committee’s Organization of Work.\footnote{Ibid.} The Committee has the ability to convene relevant conferences and summits on the global development agenda, and usually comes to a consensus on votes.\footnote{UN General Assembly, Organization of work of the Second Committee: Note by the Secretariat (A/C.2/71/L.1). 2016.} Along with this, the Second Committee can request the Secretary-General to submit reports on significant issues and can host side events.\footnote{Ibid.} This is useful in fulfilling the Committee’s role of encouraging, strengthening, and improving the implementation of Member States’ commitments in relation to development targets and SDGs in particular.\footnote{New Zealand, \textit{United Nations Handbook 2017-18}. 2017.} Moreover, this power allows the Second Committee to take on more of an effective role and concentrate on resolving numerous issues through these devolved powers.\footnote{UN General Assembly, Organization of work of the Second Committee: Note by the Secretariat (A/C.2/71/L.1). 2016.}

Recent Sessions and Current Priorities

Over recent years, the Second Committee has addressed many crucial international documents, such as the \textit{Addis Ababa Action Agenda of the Third International Conference on Financing for Development (Addis Ababa Action Agenda) (AAAA)}, adopted at the end of the Third International Conference on Financing for Development (2015), which introduces a new approach to financing systems to support sustainable development.\footnote{Ibid.} In particular, at its 70th session in 2015, the Second Committee reaffirmed this document’s commitments in draft resolution A/C.2/70/L.69, titled “International trade and development.”\footnote{UN General Assembly, \textit{UNEG Handbook for Conducting Evaluations of Normative Work in the UN System}. 2014.} The Committee adopted another crucial draft resolution expressing profound alarm over global climate change, in accordance with the statements contained in the outcome document of the 21st Conference of the Parties (COP21) to the \textit{United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC)}, which is known as the \textit{Paris Agreement}.\footnote{UN DPI, \textit{Concluding Its Session, Second Committee Unanimously Approves 18 Resolutions (GA/EF/3444)}. 2015.}

\end{itemize}
During its 71\textsuperscript{st} session, the Second Committee discussed upon other topics, most of which are strictly related to the implementation of the 2030 Agenda.\textsuperscript{45} At the end of the session, the Committee approved eight draft resolutions.\textsuperscript{46} Among these, the General Assembly approved resolution 71/464, on the “Implementation of the outcome of the United Nations Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urban Development (Habitat III) and strengthening of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN-Habitat).”\textsuperscript{47} With this document, the body recognized the crucial role of sustainable urbanization in development and requested the Secretary-General to provide the General Assembly with a report on Habitat III’s \textit{New Urban Agenda} every four years, starting from 2018.\textsuperscript{48}

Another draft resolution during the 71\textsuperscript{st} session focused on the positive effects of sustainable tourism for development, titled “Promotion of sustainable tourism, including ecotourism, for poverty eradication and environment protection.”\textsuperscript{49} The draft, adopted by the General Assembly as resolution 71/240, highlights the multiple benefits originating from a different approach to tourism: from women empowerment to maintaining cultural diversity, the body emphasized the impact of sustainable tourism on development and poverty eradication.\textsuperscript{50} Along these lines, the Second Committee approved a draft resolution on management of water resources and declared 2018-2028 the International Decade for Action, “Water for Sustainable Development,” then adopted as General Assembly resolution 71/222.\textsuperscript{51} Furthermore, the body approved other draft resolutions addressing topics including biological diversity, food security, and climate change.\textsuperscript{52}

Overall, during the most recent sessions the Second Committee focused its attention on the implementation of SDGs.\textsuperscript{53} The Committee has just begun the discussion on this year’s agenda, but several topics have already come to Member States’ attention, like the crucial role of the implementation of financial commitments in the eradication of poverty.\textsuperscript{54} Indeed, considering the agenda approved for the General Assembly 72\textsuperscript{nd} session and the provisional agenda for the years to come, the Committee will still approach the debate on development addressing together economic, environmental, and social aspects, promoting economic growth combined with among others matters related to ensuring modern energy for all, women empowerment, and food security.\textsuperscript{55}

\textbf{Conclusion}

As an essential component to the functioning of the UN, the role and work of the Second Committee is critical to addressing fundamental priorities such as the 2030 \textit{Agenda for Sustainable Development}.\textsuperscript{56} The Second Committee continues to consolidate its objectives and streamline its work with the overarching goal of stabilizing the international financial system and making progress toward development.\textsuperscript{57} In line with the recently adopted SDGs, the Committee has sought to foster innovative ideas by attempting to combine sustainable growth with meeting development targets.\textsuperscript{58} Moreover, the Second Committee must utilize emerging trends, patterns, and innovative ideas to discover new and effective solutions to ongoing challenges of sustainability.\textsuperscript{59} Many challenges remain for the Second Committee, with the need to emphasize economic, social, cultural, and environmental benefits of sustainable urbanization and tourism among them.\textsuperscript{60} Yet, as this vision is developed and deployed across the organization, the Second Committee will continue to play a pivotal role in securing a more integrated and accountable approach in achieving these objectives.

Annotated Bibliography

This handbook provides a comprehensive look at the UN and its principal organs and committees. Delegates can find a detailed explanation of the structure, processes, and procedures of the Main Committees of the General Assembly in this source. The breakdown of the structure, membership, and functionality of these committees can be a useful point for delegates to begin their research and gain an overall understanding of where the committee falls within the UN framework.

This guide is a practical introduction to the General Assembly, its different committees, and their relationship with each other and different UN system actors. It should provide delegates with a solid, comprehensive, and insightful way to leverage the UN system and staff to its full potential in finding solutions to the issues on the committee’s agenda. Its straightforward and practical language provides useful technical information.

This source provides a proposal of the strategic framework for 2017-2018. That includes detail on programs such as Economic and Social Council Affairs, Human Settlements, plus Trade and Development, among others. This is useful to delegates by making them more aware of current trends and goals of the UN in the coming years. Moreover, the individual proposals of each topic allow delegates to gather what direction the UN is taking and consider this while drafting solutions to global issues. Delegates can thus approach the topics with more of a realistic scope and improve the quality of their work.

This resource provides delegates with the General Assembly Second Committee agenda and schedule for the 72\textsuperscript{nd} session. This agenda allows delegates to have an immediate overview of the topics which are going to be discussed by the Committee in the next months. By studying the schedule of the next meeting of the Second Committee, delegates will be able to understand the objectives and goals of this Committee. At the same time, it will be possible to appreciate the continuous attention to certain topics, and other topics under discussion, as well. Furthermore, delegates will also realize the current relevance of the topics that will be discussed at NMUN in 2018.
